

RSTU Connect

A Tenant Organizing Platform Built for Nevada

Organizing Platform for Nevada's First Tenants Union

The Story

In August 2024, the Tenant Union Federation launched—the first national tenant union federation in decades. KC Tenants won $300,000 in rent forgiveness through a 248-day strike. Brooklyn tenants won $250,000 in waived rent after a 4-year campaign. LA Tenants Union secured a 10-year affordability covenant after nearly 6 years of organizing.

These victories share one thing: organized tenants using collective power to win material gains.

But these unions are in major metros. What about Nevada—a state where 57% of renters are cost-burdened, where corporate landlords own 15-25% of single-family homes, and where rents have increased 40-45% since 2019 while legislation dies in committee?

Nevada needs its own tenant union. And that union needs organizing technology built for the task.

RSTU Connect is that technology.

The Opportunity: 100,000 Doors in 60 Days

The Canvassing Vision

"Tenants across Reno-Sparks are dealing with the same problems—rising rents, poor maintenance, utility costs, and harassment—but are often isolated by building. Organizing is strongest when tenants are connected to their neighbors and supported with real information."

This project proposes an ambitious canvassing operation:

Metric	Scale
Doors knocked	100,000
Timeline	60 days
Target area	Reno-Sparks metro
Properties covered	16,000+ rental properties
Data captured	Issues, organizing interest, contact preferences

What we'll do at each door:

- Have respectful conversations with tenants
- Ask three clear questions: What issues are you dealing with? Are you interested in organizing? How do you want to be contacted?
- Enter information into the RSTU Connect database organized by building
- Identify buildings ready to organize now
